Medbio Advantage

- Knowledge & Solutions
- Integrity & Passion
- Quality & Value

At Medbio we contribute our knowledge, expertise, and the latest technology to provide products that improve the quality of life.

We provide value-added services including precision molding, assembly, and design support to the medical, and biotech industries.

We know you have a lot of injection molders knocking on your door, but Medbio is different. We are ISO-13485:2003 certified, and we are driven to provide the best customer service, at a competitive price. We have premier molding equipment in a Class 100,000-capable clean room. We have flexible capacity to handle major projects or small, custom orders. The Medbio engineering and management team averages 15 years in the medical device industry. We have the knowledge and historical experience to offer solutions to your current molding problems, or difficult new products.

Strategic partnerships, and conducting business with integrity, allow Medbio and our partners to achieve growth, success, and profitability. We will work hard to gain your trust and respect. We are passionate about doing the job right. We'd like to be your full-service partner for contract manufacturing.
